

Economics A Level - Introduction

1. What is the current global population?
2. Research online to see what predictions there are for the size of the global population by the end of this century (2100).
3. List the types of resources that you think will start becoming scarcer as the population continues to grow.
4. What can be done to help resources go further as the population grows?
5. How do we decide who gets to consume resources in the UK?
